

ILLUSTRATIVE OUTPUT SAMPLE - NOT CLIENT WORK

Business Acquisition First Look

Purpose: Demonstrate the proposed format and boundaries of this service. The situation and example entries below are invented for illustration. No actual organisation was investigated.

Commercial status: Written quotation required. No fixed fee is approved for public offer for this sample. Final scope, USD price, taxes, third-party expenses, delivery and acceptance conditions must be agreed in writing.

Decision and working scope

Bounded subject: One identified business / a limited first-pass.

Test a defined short list of material claims about a target using permitted documentary and public-source checks; do not imply full financial due diligence.

What a commissioned client would receive

A concise first-look evidence note, entity and claims table, evidence gaps and suggested follow-up scope.

Illustrative claim-to-evidence worksheet

Question / claim	Possible source type	Illustrative next action
Seller entity Which legal company owns the represented operations?	Current company registry extract, contracts supplied	Confirm parent / subsidiary attribution.
Trading footprint Does public activity support the stated operating footprint?	Public permits, websites and dated corporate filings	Not proof of current turnover.
Unverified performance Are numbers independently supportable at this stage?	Seller summary only if supplied	Requires licensed accounting / financial diligence.

Evidence standards and boundaries

The actual research record would identify each obtained source, capture or access date, relevance, limitations, conflicting material and confidence basis. Source types shown in this illustration are NOT sources actually consulted for a client.

No legal, accounting, investment or regulated professional opinion is implied. Written acceptance, conflict checks, jurisdiction, source access and human review are required before work begins.
